Before moving to Atlanta, I spent five years in Arizona and while it might sound cliché, I can honestly say, I found myself out West. I found beauty in a new culture and in Western art, architecture and fashion in particular. This is our great frontier where mom-and-pop's still reign supreme, where tumbleweed really does saunter across roads, where denim and cowboy boots are a staple, and where coyotes howl after dusk. As Buffalo Bill once mused, "The West...with its strong characters, its stern battles and its tremendous stretches of loneliness, can never be blotted from my mind." This season, our minds have traveled West, Southern Belles.
